Various rumors are current, but it is aste to say that nothing whatever has been determined upon by the President relative to that subject. It is true as reported that the relum of Stanton to the war department was taked of in the Cabinet meeting to-day, but not formerly discussed by the members, and beyond this all assertions are mere consciurs.

The certified copies of the Senate resolution were severally delivered to Stanton and Grant last night, but the President did not receive a copy until 9 or 10 this morning, although it was left for him at the executive mansion about the seme time. Stanton was received at the War Department by Gen. Grant at half rast 10, and soon after the meeting, the former resumed his duties. But it was not until an hour after this occurrence that the President received a note rom General Grant, dated to-day, informing him that he had received a copy of the Senate resolution, and that in consequence of its action under the tenure of office law, he had cased to be Secretary of War, ad interim.

The report that the President sent for Gen. Grant to attend the meeting of the Cabinet to-day is not true. The first intimation that Gen. Grant had to do so was through Col. Constock, who verbally communicated the fact at the time. He delivered the note from that officer. Gen. Grant subsequently visited the Executive Mansion, and during the evening had a conversation with the President about his retiring from the office as Secretary of War ad interim.

According to reports of those who have opportunities to be informed, the President is of the improvement of Western about the improvement of Western about the interior of the improvement of Western about the interio

War ad interim.

According to reports of those who have opportunities to be informed, the President's former understanding was that General Grent, before retiring from the Department, was to give him notice to that effect or ask to be relieved from daties. The Secretary's reason, however, for Grant's acting as he did to day is probably explained by the note to which reference is above made. The President, in a conversation with irlends to-night, said the Senate resolution did not deny him were not sufficient in this case to interest was 10 authority for the statement that he will refuse to recognize Secretary Stanton, but he will transact all army business through headquarters of the army. Much interest is expressed as to what steps he will take with reference to Stanton.
